

New Beginnings

Contributed by Sean Isley
Saturday, 28 October 2006
Last Updated Saturday, 28 October 2006

Well, here it is, the new 10-96 Designs. I have moved my site over to the Joomla CMS, due to lack of time, and the need for quick and easy deployment of certain features on my site. For now, I am using a pre-made template that will suit my needs, but as soon as I learn how to create my own Joomla templates, I will create my own custom template for the site.

Currently I am working on a project, which I will tell you about but cannot show you due to security issues that could arise, called Aftermath Forum System. The Aftermath Forum System, or A.F.S., is a forum that I am creating from scratch. If you have heard of or used any of the following forum systems, Invision Power Board, Invision Free Board, phpBB(1,2,3), Simple Machine Forums, etc, these are all similar to what my project is going to resemble. I am not sure when it will be released, I am hoping to release a Beta by New Years. After that I will concentrate on creating a new theme for the site.

If you wish to view the OLD 10-96 Designs site, I have saved it, as it contains old news articles on it, and maybe some of you still like the old site. Please note that the old site will not be updated with any new content.

Click HERE to view the old site.

